

Chisanbop Finger Math

This program teaches children the basics of mathematics and is an efficient method of teaching all basic mathematical functions using neurological impress methods; it is fun and easy to teach. Students make remarkable progress in mathematics using this method. Foothills Academy has developed this program for schools and it is now used internationally to assist children who experience difficulties with understanding mathematical principles.